

HERO

WHO'S BUZZED

Creator-first strategy, personal branding & talent management for brands, founders and creators who actually want to stand out.

We build creators into recognizable brands through strategy, content and personality-driven storytelling.

No forced influencer marketing.

No copy-paste creators.

Just people with energy, identity and something worth watching.

[Work with us]

[Meet the talent]

WHAT WE DO

Creating the buzz your brand needs.

Buzzed Up helps creators, founders and brands build a recognizable identity online.

From personal branding and content strategy to talent management and creator campaigns: everything we do is built around personality, energy and content that actually feels human.

We help creators grow into recognizable brands and help companies create campaigns people actually care about.

Services

Talent Management

Personal Branding

Content Strategy

Creator Campaigns

Shortform Content

Creative Direction

ABOUT

By creators, for creators, brands & founders.

Buzzed Up started from one simple frustration:
too much content feels empty.

Too many creators build an audience without building an identity. Too many campaigns feel forced. And too many agencies care more about numbers than personality.

We believe the strongest brands are built around people with energy, perspective and the courage to be fully themselves online.

That's why we work differently.

As creators ourselves, we understand internet culture from the inside. We know what works on platforms like TikTok, Instagram and LinkedIn — not just strategically, but emotionally.

We help creators, founders and brands translate who they are into content people actually remember.

Not by creating a perfect image.

But by building a brand around personality, ambition, humor, vulnerability and identity.

Because people don't connect with perfection anymore.

They connect with people.

WHAT BUZZED UP STANDS FOR

Buzzed Up is built around three core values:

Energy

We work with people who bring something into a room, on camera and online.

Courage

We respect creators and brands who dare to have a voice, take risks and stand for something.

Rebelliousness

Not rebellion for attention. But the courage to think differently, move differently and create differently.

TALENTS

The new generation of creators.

Not creators with copy-paste personalities or trend-only content.

But people with perspective, energy and an identity beyond one niche.

At Buzzed Up, we build creators into recognizable brands people remember — online and beyond it.

CAREERS

Think you fit the energy?

We're not looking for perfect resumes or corporate personalities.

We're looking for creators, thinkers and ambitious people with energy, ideas and the courage to do things differently.

No role that fits you?
Pitch yourself anyway.

CASES

Real campaigns. Real creators. Real results.

See what happens when the right creators connect with brands that understand modern content.

No forced ads.
Just campaigns people actually want to watch.

CONTACT

Let's talk.

Whether you're a creator, founder or brand:
if you've got personality, ambition and something worth building, we should talk.

FAQ

Frequently asked questions

What does Buzzed Up actually do?

Buzzed Up helps creators, founders and brands with personal branding, content strategy, talent management and creator campaigns.

Do you only work with creators?

No. We also work with founders and brands looking to build a stronger online identity.

Can brands work with you directly?

Absolutely. We connect brands with creators that genuinely fit their campaign and audience.

What makes Buzzed Up different from other agencies?

We care about personality, identity, energy and community — not just follower counts or views.

Do you help with strategy and content too?

Yes. We help with positioning, storytelling, content formats, campaigns and social growth.

Do follower counts matter?

Not always. A creator with a strong identity and engaged community can be far more valuable than someone with huge but passive reach.

What kind of creators fit Buzzed Up?

Creators with personality, energy, ambition and a strong sense of self. People who want to build more than just content.

FINAL CTA

Ready to create some buzz?

Whether you're a creator, founder or brand:

if you've got personality, ambition and something worth building, we should talk.

[Contact us]